

Over 1,000 children read 20,022 books during the Library's Summer Reading Program. To celebrate their accomplishment, hundreds of readers and their families enjoyed the Library's end of the Summer Reading Program's Family night, an evening of games, programs, and treats. If you missed this year's summer reading program, you'll have another chance to participate -- watch for it next spring.

Just a reminder, the Library has numerous great services; here's a sampling of three:

- Downloadable audiobooks – the Library subscribes to OneClickdigital, a collection of over 5,000 downloadable audiobooks. Access this collection by visiting the Library's website (eaglepubliclibrary.org) and click on the "E-Books & E-Audiobooks" button.
- Streaming movies – thousands of independent films are available through Hoopla and IndieFlix. These film festival favorites are available by visiting the Library's website (eaglepubliclibrary.org) and clicking on the "Movies" button.
- Downloadable music -- you can now download five (5!) songs per week and stream music for three hours daily per library card through the Library's Freegal subscription. Build your music collection by downloading songs – they're yours forever (just be sure to download to a PC or Mac) – by visiting the Library's web page (eaglepubliclibrary.org) and clicking on the "Music" button.

Library programs are in full swing this September, including:

- Jar Full of Dreams – Tuesday, September 13, 4:30 pm. Celebrate children's author Roald Dahl's 100th birthday with a BFG dream recipe jar and a fountain of chocolate! Intended age: Elementary School.
- Board Games – Tuesday, September 6, 6:00 pm. Bring your friends for an afternoon of gaming at the Library. Games from the Library's collection will be available. Intended age: Teen
- Soldering for Adults – Saturday, September 17, 2:00 pm. Learn what soldering is about and then create your own masterpiece. Intended audience: adult.
