A maximum twelve (12) month extension of the time limit on the approved preliminary plat may be granted by the City Council, at its sole discretion, if the following findings are made:

- A. There are no outstanding city code or plat approval violations on the subject property. If such violations exist, they may be conditioned by the city council to be cured as a condition of the extension of time;
- B. The preliminary plat, as previously approved, remains in the best interests of the health, safety, and general welfare of the city;
- C. There have been no significant changes to this code between the date of preliminary plat approval and the application date of the time extension request that would require substantial modifications to the project;
- D. There are no hazardous conditions which have developed or have been discovered on the project site;
- E. The public facilities and services required for the project remain adequate;
- F. The applicant has provided a viable and acceptable plan which demonstrates that the final plat application will be filed within the year; and
- G. The applicant has provided a schedule that depicts the anticipated timing for the filing of the final plat application within the year.

The City Council reserves the right to revoke the extension of time approval if it finds that any of the criteria herein are not met.

This section does not limit the number of extensions the city council may grant to an applicant so long as the criteria set forth in Eagle City Code section 9-2-3 (E)(1) are met. Nothing in this section requires the City Council to grant any extension of an approval period.

Projects with approved phasing plans do not need time extensions, so long as the construction of improvements do not cease for more than one year in any given phase.

In the event that the development of the preliminary plat is made in successive, contiguous segments through an approved phasing plan in an orderly and reasonable manner, and conforms to such segments, if submitted within successive intervals for one year, it may be considered for final approval without resubmission for preliminary plat approval.
